What do you feel like watching today?

While some people stick to only one type of movie, I like to watch different movies depending on how I feel at the time.

When I'm down or tired, I prefer movies that cheer me up. Comedies and cartoons have funny dialogs and happy endings. The characters may not be perfect, but they try their best to solve their problems. After watching such movies, I feel much better. Laughing is also a good way to relax. I don't watch dramas or documentaries when I'm sad or tired.

I don't mind action movies when I'm too tired to think. I can just shut off my brain, sit back and enjoy watching an exciting superhero who always saves the world just in time.

Forrest Gump

“Life is like a box of chocolates, you never know what you’re going to get.”

Forrest Gump grows up in rural Greenbow, Alabama. He lives with his mom, who is a really smart and strong woman. Although Forrest’s IQ is only 75, his mom manages to help him get the finest education, and always tells him, “You are no different.” In school, Forrest meets a girl named Jenny, and they become best friends. Under Jenny’s encouragement, Forrest discovers his ability to run fast. Fortunately, this ability gives him the chance to go to college, where he becomes an all-star football player.

After graduation, Forrest joins the army for service in Vietnam, and he makes new friends, including Bubba and Dan. During the war, Forrest rescues many soldiers, but Bubba dies. Lieutenant Dan is also badly wounded and loses both legs. He blames Forrest for saving him, insisting that he should have died instead of surviving disabled.

When Forrest gets back from Vietnam, he is awarded a Medal of Honor for his actions. Over the next several decades, Forrest becomes a war hero, a famous ping-pong player, a national celebrity, a successful businessman, and something of an American idol. Forrest successfully realizes Bubba's dream of helping Dan discover his self-worth. Finally, Forrest marries Jenny and they have a son. Though Jenny dies, he still manages to have a happy life with their son.
