Reading for thinking

Read the passages and choose the correct answers. 阅读文章，选择正确答案。

A

Family traditions are special habits or customs that a family shares. Sometimes, they are passed down from generation (代) to generation. And other times, parents and their children create their own traditions. For example, in the family of John Brown, his parents keep the tradition of reading aloud with children. What is the tradition in your family?

Nick, 15, Canada

On every family member's birthday, we give him or her a surprise. Last Sunday, it was my mother's birthday. And I knew that she wanted to see a film. So my father and I bought the tickets without telling her first. This made her really happy.

Jack, 15, Cuba

Every weekend, my parents and I go to my grandparents' home. It's like a family party. My grandparents cook delicious food. I meet all my cousins. We talk about interesting things at school. Sometimes, adults also join us to play games.

Yu Xin, 14, China

During every summer or winter holiday, we have a family trip across the country. I'm always the one who chooses where to go. And most of the time, my parents respect my choice. We have visited Qingdao, Xiamen and Beijing. I enjoyed the trips. They are precious (珍贵的) memories to me.

- Whose family keeps the tradition of reading aloud with children?
 - Nick's family.
 - John Brown's family.
 - Jack's family.
 - Yu Xin's family.
- What do Jack and his parents usually do at weekends?
 - They have a family trip.
 - They stay at home to do some cleaning.
 - They visit Jack's grandparents and have a family party.
 - They spend their weekends watching a film.
- Yu Xin has visited some places EXCEPT _____.
 - Xiamen
 - Qingdao
 - Beijing
 - Hangzhou
- According to the passage, what can we know about family traditions?
 - It is impossible for people to create new family traditions.
 - They are special habits or customs that one family shares.
 - Most families don't have their own family traditions.
 - Family traditions are always passed down from parents to their kids.
- What's the passage mainly about?
 - School life.
 - Birthday parties.
 - Holiday plans.
 - Family traditions.

B

Some people think only school children do not agree with their parents. However, it is not true. Communication is a problem for parents and children of all ages. If it's hard for you to communicate with your parents, don't worry about it. Here is some advice for you to bridge the generation gap (代沟).

Don't argue with your parents. Don't talk to your parents when you are angry. Your parents probably won't consider your ideas if you are shouting at them. Go somewhere to cool off. Make sure you understand why you are unhappy. Then think about what you want to say to your parents. If you don't think you can speak to them at the moment, try writing a letter.

Try to reach a compromise (折中; 妥协). Perhaps you and your parents disagree on something. You can keep your disagreement and try your best to accept each other.

Talk about your values. The values of your parents are probably different from those of your own. Tell your parents what you care about. Understanding your values might help them see your purpose in life.

A good relationship with your parents can make you a better and happier person. It is worth having a try!

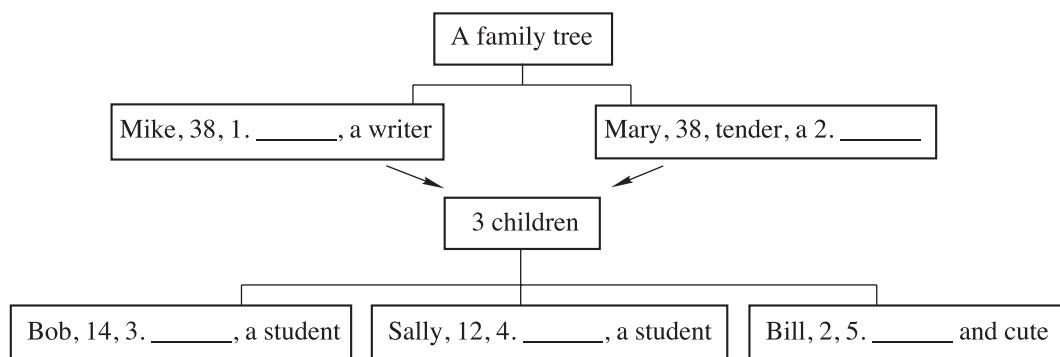

1. Who have communication problems according to the passage?
 - A. Only school kids and their parents.
 - B. Parents and other people.
 - C. Parents and children of all ages.
 - D. Teachers and their students.
2. How many pieces of advice does the author give to bridge the generation gap?
 - A. Five.
 - B. Four.
 - C. Three.
 - D. Two.
3. What do the underlined words "cool off" mean in paragraph 2?
 - A. To make yourself happy.
 - B. To get yourself quiet and relaxed.

- C. To have a good rest.
D. To hide yourself quickly.
4. If the values of your parents are different from those of yours, what should you do?
A. You should argue with them.
B. You should keep away from them.
C. You should agree with them all the time.
D. You should tell your parents what you care about.
5. What is the most suitable title for the passage?
A. How to Bridge the Generation Gap
B. How to Deal with Family Problems
C. How to Be Good Parents
D. How to Be a Good Child
